Thanks for your prompt response. I have used your standard Hangman to hang many heavy mirrors and art items In my home and have been very pleased with the results. I have some heavy mirrors and art items that I want as flush to the wall as possible, hence my interest In your Z Hanger. Would five Z Hangers be too small an offer? If not, can I send you a check?

Thanks. -.Lance Ito – Los Angeles

I am a professional art installer in the Washington DC area. I recently installed some waterworks mirrors with your products attached. And found it very easy to work with. Do you sell to the trade? If so can I get a catalog of your entire product line?

I got them at Expo in Detroit when I visited. Our Aces around here don't have them and we don't have Expos, but I'll be in Detroit next week and load up.. they are the easiest, sturdiest hangers I've ever used. Someone got smart!! Candace D.L.

Congratulations. ...what a great, great product!!! I have used several sizes but am having difficulty getting the 6" size. Can you tell me where in the northern Virginia area your product is sold? I purchased several sizes at the Home Depot Expo Center. Is there any place in Manassas Virginia your product is available. Thanks...and again, congrats. It's wonderful.

This hanging device is the best invention I have encountered. With sizes for all weights, we can bang everything perfectly with the leveling device built in. With the fastener insta1led at the same height around the room, there is no variation like that with the wires, , no slipping crooked like the little teeth type hanger. My pictures and mirrors are hanging flat to the wall with no tilted distortion like you get from wires that are fastened too loosely. Also, after dusting or taking pictures down, they are still perfectly in place when placed back on the wall. Your company has made a dramatic improvement on home decorating.

I have used your product with great success on cabinet purchased at Linen N Things. Where are they available in the New York City area? Thank you. Ken H.

I found your product in a Strouds store, which is now going out of business. I love your easy to use wall mount system. \Where can I buy it? I live in the Monterey-Salinas area. 93901, 93940. Can I call and order it from you or is there a retailer in my area that I can buy from. Thanks!! - T. Pees

Well, the hangman mounting went up like a charm! Having that "Built-in" level was great, especially in this old building...none of the walls are very flat making it difficult to get an accurate measure. Hanging it was a cinch once the mounting was up, not like the old method of trying to find the nails while balancing a heavy cabinet. And the best part was that I did it myself!

Thanks again for your assistance. Sue

I was looking for a product exactly like the one you make & was so surprised when I found hangman mounting hardware. I am a production manager for a high end furniture manufacturer in Los Angeles & would like information on how I can order from you directly to start using your product on our mirrors, hanging wall brackets, mantles & all other hanging items we have & intend to add to our line. I look forward to your reply. Regards. Joe M.

I recently purchased a medicine cabinet at a Target Store and it contained one of your products for hanging the cabinet. Hanging the cabinet was the easiest time I have ever had hanging anything.

Are your products sold in retail stores anywhere? I live in Evansville, IN and would be interested in using your products in the future. If they are not sold retail, how would I be able to purchase your products in the future?

Where can I buy your wall hanging products in my area?

Mooreville, NC 28117. Thanks. Candace I love them!!

What a pleasure to buy a gizmo and find that it does exactly what it says it does! I used your 'canvas hanger' , the 12" size, and I have a perfectly level and securely hung canvas hanging on my wall. It looks great. Ah, simple pleasures.
